Reckless Driving Charge is Aired in Court

W. Roughhead Injured by a Car
Driven by Joe Yurek—Three Appearances in Court to Arrive at Decision

A fine of $25.00 and costs and three months suspension of his driver's licence, was the sentence imposed on Joe Yurek by Fred Antrobus, J.P., on Wednesday afternoon following conclusion of evidence on a charge of reckless driving. Yurek will be given one month to pay fine. It was intimated by Yurek's lawyer that an appeal would be made.

Bruce Pytlaz gave evidence of having been in the car with Yurek at time of the accident. They had just taken the car from its parking space in front of Coleman Hardware and Yurek was changing from intermediate gear into high when the accident occurred. They were not going more than 15 miles per hour. Yurek stopped car dead at moment of impact with the men. He first saw the men ten feet ahead of the car. He helped Roughhead to hospital. He also heard Yurek ask Roughhead if he was all right.

Joe Yurek, accused, admitted being driver of the car. He had pulled away from Coleman Hardware and was changing gears when he saw the two men five to seven feet ahead of him. The car hit the men. He got out of the car and asked Roughhead if he was all right and when the latter said yes he went back to the car and drove away.

Yurek had pleaded not guilty previously in the case but His Worship found him guilty and imposed the above sentence.

Evidence on the charge of reckless driving in the town of Coleman against Joe Yurek, of Blairmore, was heard by Fred Antrobus, J.P., on Friday evening in the council chamber. The case had been adjourned from Tuesday evening. Sam Bannan, barrister, of Blairmore, was present for defendant, Constable Wm. Antle prosecuting.

Dr. Claxton gave evidence as to having been called on Saturday, April 6, between 10 and 11 p.m., to the hospital, where he found Wm. Roughhead and George Morgan had been admitted following a car accident. Roughhead had bruises on left leg and back of pelvis and a cut two inches long and half an inch deep on his back. Morgan showed no external injuries. He dressed Roughhead's wounds and expected he would be able to resume his employment on Monday, April 22. Dr. Claxton, in reply to a question by Mr. Bannan, refused to swear that Roughhead smelled of liquor.

Mr. Roughhead told of the route taken from the Empire Hotel to Jimmy's Coffee Shop. He and George Morgan had looked to both east and west to see if any cars were coming before crossing the road at the Motordrome to Jimmy's Coffee Shop. They were hurled through the air ahead of the car and Morgan was thrown to the side. He immediately ran to the hospital for medical aid.

Following the evidence Mr. Bannan addressed His Worship, stating not one of the witnesses had submitted evidence that Yurek was actually the driver of the car, and therefore the prosecution had a case against his client. He refused his permission to allow Constable Antle to call Yurek to the witness stand.

Prosecutor Antle asked for an adjournment. Mr. Bannan would allow no further evidence to be submitted against his client, which was agreed to by His Worship and Constable Antle. Adjournment was allowed till Wednesday, April 24, at 2 p.m.

Kirkland Lake Too Good For Calgary

Score Seventeen Goals in Two Games; McCready Sparks Winners.

Kirkland Lake Blue Devils, following Monday night's game at Toronto, seem to have the Allan Cup and Dominion hockey championship pretty well sewed up as they trounced Calgary Stampedeers, western Canada champions, 9-1 in the second of the best three-out-of-five game series. The Blue Devils won the first game 8-5.

Seventeen goals have been scored against Art Rice-Jones, who, despite that fact, is given credit by Foster Hewitt as having played two outstandingly good games. The Calgary defence, with the exception of Millman, seems to be non-existent. Demaris is lost on the wing and Duchak is much too slow for the speedy easteners. It was noticed on Monday that four goals were scored while Calgary was short-handed. Once when Millman was off at the start of the second period, and the two trips Duchak made to the cooler resulted in Kirkland Lake scoring three times.

McCready, whom many Coleman fans considered the weak sister in the Duchak-Kowinack-McCready line that sparked the Trail Smoke Eaters to an Allan Cup championship, is the leading sniper for the easteners, scoring twice on Saturday and three times on Monday.

Increased business has made necessary the employment of Mr. Robert Burgess, of Calgary, at Bill McGraith's barber shop. Mr. Burgess is an experienced barber, states Mr. McGraith, and customers are assured of expert workmanship.

night in question and had had two glasses of beer with Roughhead in Red Jack's. Roughhead had wanted cup of coffee and he had accompanied him towards Jimmy's Coffee Shop, crossing the street at Coleman Motors to the Italian Hall and walking down the north side of the street to The Motordrome, where they started to cross to the Coffee Shop. When they started to cross there were no cars in sight. A car suddenly appeared and Roughhead, who was slightly ahead, was knocked down as well as himself. Roughhead appeared 8 to 10 feet ahead of the car when he next saw him. The car was stopped and he saw Yurek get out. He thought the car travelled the length of itself after the collision, before stopping.

Melville Cornett, a witness, told of meeting Roughhead and Morgan crossing the street at the intersection between The Motordrome and Jimmy's Coffee Shop, between 10 and 10:30 on Saturday, April 6. He suddenly heard the screech of brakes and swung around to see Roughhead and Morgan lying in the road, having been hit. Morgan got up immediately and he (Cornett) immediately rushed over to Roughhead. He, with someone else, picked up Roughhead and helped him towards the hospital. Roughhead was in a semi-conscious condition. He saw Yurek step from the car, walk a little towards Roughhead, and when he saw Roughhead being picked up, returned to the car and drove away. He failed to offer help. The injured man was a good fifteen feet from the front bumper of the car.

Adam Wilson, witness, corroborated Cornett's evidence. He, however, saw the car actually collide with the two men. Roughhead was hurled through the air ahead of the car and Morgan was thrown to the side. He immediately ran to the hospital for medical aid.

Following the evidence Mr. Bannan addressed His Worship, stating not one of the witnesses had submitted evidence that Yurek was actually the driver of the car, and therefore the prosecution had a case against his client. He refused his permission to allow Constable Antle to call Yurek to the witness stand.

Prosecutor Antle asked for an adjournment. Mr. Bannan would allow no further evidence to be submitted against his client, which was agreed to by His Worship and Constable Antle. Adjournment was allowed till Wednesday, April 24, at 2 p.m.

Council Author- izes Clean-Up of Cemeteries

Two Men to Fix Road, Clean Up
Rocks and Grass; Petition Gravedigger to be More Careful.

Council, at its meeting on Tuesday evening, took a forward step in passing a motion to clean up the local cemeteries. Two relief recipients will be put to work as soon as weather permits to remove rocks and dead grass, etc., and make a general clean-up of the cemeteries. The union cemetery had been a source of contention for many years, due to its very poor condition. It has now been authorized to be filled in and made safer.

Some members of the council have received complaints from persons that the gravedigger is most careless as to where he throws rocks, when digging graves, that he tramps over graves and also that flowers and wreaths are handled by him very roughly. While council was fully aware such matters as the gravedigger's conduct while employed at graves was outside their province, it was agreed to write Mr. A. E. Ferguson, proprietor of Crows' Nest Funeral Parlor, that he caution his gravedigger to be more careful in future, and that he move surplus material from the cemetery.

It was also decided to place a sign in the cemeteries instructing persons building concrete walls around graves not to leave their building material lying about, and not to throw their rubbish over the fence where it can be easily seen and where it soon becomes an eyesore.

GONE EAST

H. T. Halliwell left on Monday for Windsor, Ontario, to attend the annual meeting of the Ontario-Quebec division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, to be held April 26-27. A visit will be paid by the party to the plant of the Ford Motor Co. at Detroit, as the guests of the company. On May 2-3 the semi-annual meeting of directors of the C.W.N.A., of which Mr. Halliwell is president this year, will be held in the Chateau Laurier. Among other business, the date and place of the annual convention will be decided. Calgary city council, the Calgary Board of Trade and the Calgary Daily Herald have extended a cordial invitation to the Association for the 1940 convention. It is twelve years since the Association met in Alberta, at Edmonton and Jasper Park.

STONE WALL COLLAPSES

Rain caused collapse of a portion of the stone wall which helps support the highway on Fourth street from the creek bed. As a result part of the roadway also collapsed and with continued rain during the week is in further danger of caving in. Parents are asked to caution their children from walking too near the edge of the road at this particular point.

STEVE JANOSTAK REACHES AUSTRALIA

Coleman's round-the-world traveler, Steve Janostak, is at the present time taking in the beauties of Australia, having arrived there from Coleman last week.

A telegram from Melbourne stating: "Reached Australia safely, Steve," was the first news of Steve's whereabouts received by his parents since he left Coleman early in March. At that time he had left his home without a word to anyone as to his intention, and while it was known that the urge to travel was becoming stronger within him, his departure came as a surprise.

During the past winter Steve confided to the writer plans for his next trip. He intended to travel into the States and journey through to Mexico where he would board a ship for South America, a country he had not yet visited. From South America he intended to sail to South Africa, then to India, and from there over to Australia. Whether or not he followed out his original plan is not known, but it is doubtful, as Steve usually keeps The Journal fully posted on his travels by sending cards and panoramas of cities visited. At the present time The Journal has panoramas of Hong Kong and Constantinople hanging on the office walls, both pictures being sent by Steve.

He has visited England, France, Germany, Austria, Italy and various other European countries, as well as China, Japan and the British port of Hong Kong. Last year he visited India, where he purchased several souvenirs for his family here.

Money seems to be of secondary importance. While in Japan he had $18 left. This he stated would have been sufficient to keep him for another month in the Orient—this half way around the world. Due to his enormous strength he has no difficulty in securing employment on ships, and when a captain does refuse him, Steve quietly walks over to some heavy cargo where he lifts some giant load to the amazement of the captain. He has yet to be refused a job on a ship after this display of strength.

COLEMAN GIRLS GRADUATE AS NURSES AT VICTORIA

Four Coleman girls, the Misses Mary Atkinson, Doris Bowen, Peggy Emerson and Joanna Flynn, will graduate as nurses at Victoria in early May.

Miss Atkinson, at present training at St. Joseph's hospital, will graduate on Thursday, May 2. The graduation exercises will be witnessed by her mother, Mrs. J. Atkinson, and sister, Mrs. L. Caroe, who left for the B.C. capital last Monday. The other three girls will graduate from the Royal Jubilee hospital on Wednesday, May 8. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Flynn intend leaving on Monday, April 29, for Victoria for their daughter's graduation. They will accompany Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hamilton, of Blairmore, whose daughter graduates from St. Joseph's hospital and in the same class as Miss Atkinson.

34th Anniversary of United Church on Sunday

Rev. J. H. Matthews, of Fernie,
Special Preacher; Expect Large Attendance

Special services commemorating the thirty-fourth anniversary of the opening of the United Church buildings will be held on Sunday. Not only the regular membership, but all friends and adherents of the congregation are invited to take part in this important event. Known as the Institutional church, the buildings were dedicated and opened April 6th, 1906. Later the church became St. Paul's Presbyterian church, and for many years was supported by mission grants from the missionary funds of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. At the time of the union of churches, the congregation elected to enter the new body, and the church then became St. Paul's United Church. For the last ten years the congregation has been self-supporting.

For the special services on Sunday the Rev. J. H. Matthews, of Fernie, will be the special preacher. The choir will be present at both services. The morning service will begin at 10:45; the evening service at the usual hour. The anniversary services are always well attended. Everyone who looks to the United Church as at least one of the services. The regular congregation are expected to attend both. The Sunday school will be as usual. The occasion calls for an expression of appreciation and loyalty, and for a generous thank-offering.

Fernie S. A. Choir Visited Coleman on Friday

On Friday last, the Fernie Junior Choir, under the leadership of Miss Jean Harrison and accompanied by Captain M. Battick and Lieutenant D. Taylor, visited the Coleman Salvation Army Corps.

A large crowd turned out to listen to their program, which was full of interest and variety throughout the evening. Captain Battick, officer in charge of the Salvation Army work in Fernie, acted as chairman. The Coleman Singing Company, under Miss Violet Knowles' direction, also assisted, and Mr. Jensen, of the Nazareth church, rendered a vocal solo.

Selections by the two choirs, individually and united; vocal quartettes, duets and solos, together with instrumental duet, reading and dialogue were each received with hearty applause by the listeners. At the conclusion a vote of thanks was given the visitors by Captain F. Watson, who expressed the desire that another visit would be forthcoming in the near future.

A return visit by the Coleman singers to Fernie was planned to be made on Wednesday, April 24, and a report of same will be given in a subsequent issue of this paper.

Medical Health Officer Question Settled

3-Way Relief Recipients Allowed
Fuel and Shelter. Crescent
Shows Here June 13-14-15

Regular meeting of council held on Tuesday evening. Present Mayor D'Appollonia, Councillors Antrobus, Atkinson, Balloch, Ford, Gentile and Kerr.

Mr. Bombien, resident of Third street, was present and asked council's permission to dump sand from two cesspools into a hole in a vacant lot behind his residence. Works and property committee will investigate before sanction given.

M. Soltice made application to purchase a lot in West Coleman. Works and property committee were authorized to inspect the lot in question, and report back at the next meeting.

Reports on two fires were submitted by Fire Chief Antle. On April 10 at 2 a.m. fire completely destroyed the home of A. Pollack. $600 worth of insurance was carried. Three lengths of 2 1/2-inch fire hose was destroyed. Following the arrival of the fire truck it was found the burning building was 66 feet outside the town limits. A bill totalling $17.50 was presented to pay the firefighters. Council agreed to pay the bill and authorized Constable Antle to collect that amount from A. Pollack since they were not responsible for damage to property through fire outside the town limits.

The second fire occurred in West Coleman on April 18 at 3:30 a.m. when J. Misura's home was completely destroyed. Only a few clothes were saved. A bill for $13.25 was presented and authorized paid.

Following detailed discussion, council was unanimously in favor of cutting Mrs. A. Volendort from the town relief roll. Mr. Volendort has assured council he is prepared to support his wife and child. A letter will be sent to Mrs. Volendort, stating she is no longer a town charge.

A letter was received from S. Howarth, asking council to place a culvert in front of his property on Second street, to enable him to gain easier access with his car from the garage to the street. Request was granted.

A letter was received from Modern Electric, agents for Westinghouse lamps, asking council to grant them a year's contract for all lamps needed for town lighting. A written guarantee would be given that all lamps supplied would give 750 hours service. Lamps failing to give this service would be replaced without charge by the company. Council will ask Modern Electric to submit prices.

A letter was received from the Workmen's Compensation Board re Walter Williams. The Board granted a minor concession, that of again placing Williams before the Board's doctors next August. His compensation, however, will be stopped. Mr. Williams had made application for relief two weeks ago and council took the necessary measures for placing him on relief.

Sara's Service Station asked to share in town's business re oil and gasoline supplies, as well as repairs. Since all local garages share equally in the town's business, the letter was filed.

A letter was received from Drs. Rose and Claxton, accepting the position of medical health officers for the Town of Coleman, at a monthly salary of $25. The doctors agreed to submit a monthly report to the council.

Crescent Shows asked permission to exhibit in Coleman on June 13-14-15. A letter from the provincial government was also read, whereby no travelling show can do business in the province without first buying a provincial license. Crescent Shows will be notified that their request to come to Coleman on the above dates will be granted, providing they first secure a provincial license. Town license for the shows is $50 daily.

Council was in receipt of a letter from G. F. Willis, Bureau of Public Welfare, Edmonton, which stated that relief recipients on the three-way plan can be issued fuel and shelter in addition to their food allowance, provision of this paper.

GROWN IN SUNNY, SOUTHERN ONTARIO

Building An Industry

All indications point to the probability that this summer will see a marked increase in traffic on the highways and probably on some of the more important municipal roads in Western Canada.

The origin of this increased traffic will be partly local due to improved crop conditions in many parts of the prairie provinces last year, coupled with the prospect of better prices for wheat and other grains should the war continue and the Allies be able to keep the oceanways open for their needed supplies of foodstuffs, munitions and other requisitions for warfare.

The other factor making for this prospective increase in traffic on Western Canadian highways this summer is the probability of a substantially augmented number of visitors from the United States on holiday bent, and in all likelihood this source will provide for the major increase.

In addition to the American tourists who would have spent their vacation in this country in the ordinary course of events, Canada is likely to play host to a large number of the more wealthy residents of the United States who are accustomed to holidaying in Europe and whose summer playgrounds are cut off by the war. Their vacation ground is now practically confined to this continent. Some, no doubt, will go to Mexico or the West Indies, but if the war spreads, the majority will feel safer in Central and Western Canada than anywhere else, except in their own country.

If this premise is sound, many new faces from south of the international border will be seen in Western Canada, and the present time appears to afford an excellent opportunity to Western Canadians to cement the friendship which exists between the two countries and to lay the foundations for an enhanced tourist trade for future years.

Solidity Friendship

If this traffic is to be encouraged, not only for this but in future years, it is essential that everything possible be done to ensure the comfort and convenience of those who make Western Canada their holiday playground, and every possible means should be adopted to dispel the erroneous notion which has been circulated south of the border that wartime means danger from submarines and mines, higher food prices, income restrictions, curtailment of the use of cameras and so on. Fortunately, the federal government has already announced that none of these risks and impediments exist or will exist, but a bare announcement is not sufficient. The information must be conveyed to the potential visitor and every Western Canadian who has friends in the United States should do his part in seeing that this information is as widely circulated as possible in the neighboring country.

If this traffic is to be built on a solid foundation now, when the opportunity is available and if good will is to be created and cemented, it is essential that the American visitor to Western Canada this summer secure the full fair value of his dollar while purchasing commodities and buying services on his vacation trip. Every Canadian who fails to give the incoming tourist the full premium which the United States dollar enjoys under international exchange rates is doing a disservice to his own country and is adopting a short sighted policy.

In view of the future, as well as the immediate present, importance of the tourist industry special efforts should be made this summer to maintain the highways and major municipal roads of the country in as high a state of efficiency as finances will permit. While war expenditures, of course, have the right of way, as much as possible should be done to condition the roads, if this country is to make the most of the advantages of building up this major industry which the present situation affords. This entails the necessity of seeing to it that every dollar spent on road construction or road maintenance does a full dollar's worth of work.

Courtesy Is Important

Apart from these essentials to the promotion of this growing industry courtesy is not the least important consideration if we are to secure and retain the goodwill of the customers. This implies, not only courtesy in the conduct of transactions with the country's guests, which is naturally to be expected, but also courtesy on the road. The rules of the road should be strictly complied with for they, themselves are based on the spirit of courtesy and commonsense.

The driver who hogs more than his share of the road, who cuts in front of others, who passes others on hills and curves at excessive speeds, violates the laws of courtesy and commonsense and is doing his share to drive away a flourishing trade as well as being a danger to himself and his own countrymen.

A study of highway accidents in the United States by the Travelers' Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., reveals the truth of the statement that virtually all highway accidents are due to the negligence of those involved. Of the accidents studied it was found that the weather was clear in 86.7 per cent. of the cases and the pavement dry in 79.6 per cent. Of the drivers involved 95.7 per cent. had more than a year's experience and 93.4 per cent. were men. Ninety three per cent. of the cars were in good condition and 84.5 per cent. were driving on straight open stretches when tragedy struck. The figures dispose of practically all the usual alibis for accident causes and leave the driver culpable.

Right Man For Job

In a despatch from London appearing in the Christian Science Monitor, Mallory Browne says few informed people in England to-day question that Mr. Winston Churchill is the right man to have on the bridge in war time. He is credited with being fertile in ideas and full of initiative as well as with unquestioned success in speeding up the building of new fighting ships.

British railways serve 9,000,000 meals annually, with 250,000 pieces of crockery being broken.

Safety Always Warranting

Ready To Ride If Careless Driver Would Be Willing

Most people who drive cars are fond of saying in their own screamingly loud way that they always like to keep one foot on the ground—meaning to say that they won't fly. Yet all the commercial flying services in United States carrying thousands of passengers over millions of miles, went through an entire year without a single loss of life.

Flying people made a business and science of safety. Motorists have made neither one yet, although automobile engineers have given them very safety device it is possible to crash about a four-wheeled chassis. Safety is still a "hitch-hiker with us, thumb out, beckoning a ride. When are motorists going to get wise to themselves and take him aboard?"—Vancouver Sun.

Open Leave Club Again

Australian Serving In Last War Was First To Register

The moving spirit of the "Leave Club", as during the first Great War, is Lady Guggisberg, wife of Sir Gordon Guggisberg, who was Governor and commander-in-chief of the Gold Coast. Lady Guggisberg, formerly a well-known actress, founder of innumerable women's services during the last war, will be remembered among the Canadian returned men as Miss Declara Moore. She is still Miss Moore to the troops and to-day she welcomes to the Leave Club the son of many a soldier who stayed there 23 years ago.

"I was quite touched when we opened to discover that the first soldier to register was an Australian whom we had during the last war," said Lady Guggisberg. "Of course the Canadians have not begun to come yet except a few members of the R.A.F., but this will be one of their homes in France when and for as long as they wish to use it." She smiled a little and added, "You can tell their mothers that we'll look after them."

Inside the door and along the long wide staircase the atmosphere is entirely British. Plaques and signs in English; here a warning: "A lovely girl—an idle word—a comrade lost—Hitler served." Soft English voices, the smell of good tobacco and a boyish voice humming, "Odette, you bet, you're gonna be mine."

At little tables in the writing room they sit writing letters home or with heads together poring over the plan of Paris. In another part of the room several boys with coats of arms and sleeves rolled up are sorting decorations to hang up for the Saturday night dance. Girls from English, Canadian and other "colonies" of Paris are invited. Each girl must wear a nurse's white smock before she is admitted to the floor of the magnificent ballroom.

"In this way we have solved the problem of clothes and it puts the boys completely at their ease," said Lady Guggisberg who sets the example herself. Soldier or officer, they find the girls all on the same footing—there is no sign of riches or poverty and this saves much embarrassment while it contributes to the good time.

Hitler Declaration

Would Give Britain The World If He Could Have Europe

Harold Nicholson, member of parliament, told this story of Adolf Hitler in a radio broadcast from London.

"Hitler once told a friend of mine his greatest desire was to bare his soul in a high conversation with an Englishman."

"My friend asked, 'What would you say?'"

"Hitler extended his arms toward the Berchtesgaden mountains and replied, 'I would say to him, give me Europe and I'll give them the rest of the world.'"

"My friend said, 'But Britain would simply be the being given the rest of the world. They have enough trouble of their own.'"

"Hitler replied, angrily, 'I should force them to take it.'"

Large Merchant Fleet

One of the world's greatest fleets of merchant vessels—more than 4,000 Norwegian and Danish ships aggregating approximately 6,000,000 gross tons—was driven out of active commerce when war suddenly shifted to Scandinavia. This developed as orders went out to the vessels to seek safety in neutral harbors the world over.

One Of Oldest Games

Marbles Played By Egyptians And Chinese Many Centuries Ago

We thought the game of marbles was as extinct as the dodo. Leastways we have not seen schoolboys "knuckling down" on the sidewalk for many a year. Yet in nearby Michigan it seems to be flourishing. A Detroit newspaper is sponsoring a tournament and has zoned the entire State for preliminary rounds, leading to a grand championship some weeks later.

The game of marbles is one of the oldest in the world. It was played by the ancient Egyptians, the Chinese and the natives of India. Saxony used to be the world centre for the making of marbles. The marbles which were placed in the ring were made of baked red clay and the "knucklers" were made of agate or some other hard, smooth mineral. In our boyhood days, soft-drink bottles had round glass pebbles for stoppers which were pushed in when one wanted to pour out the contents. Many a bottle was never returned because the boys of the household used to break them in order to extract the "glassies" to play marbles with. There is a little, old-fashioned English village where, about this time of the year, a "world's championship" marbles contest has been staged for many generations. For a number of years past the competitors have been old men, some up in their eighties.

The hand of the modern boy seems to prefer to grasp a steering wheel.

Red Cross Sends Funds To Assist In Polish Relief

The following letter will be of interest to Polish readers all over Canada. It is one more instance of how the Red Cross can and does help to things in the war-ridden countries which can be done by no other agency.

Mr. Victor Sifton, president, Manitoba Branch, Canadian Red Cross, Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Dear Mr. Sifton: We are herewith enclosing cheque for six hundred dollars ($600.00), which amount was mailed to us from Montreal, with the instructions to transmit same to Mr. Jan Stanczyk, the minister of labor and social welfare in the Polish government at Angers, France.

The detailed instructions as to how this money shall be used by the Polish government is contained in the letter of the donors, a copy of which (in Polish) we are herewith enclosing.

Thanking you for your former kindness in various matters brought before you, we hope you will grant us similar kindness in this matter also.

Yours very truly,

Dr. F. Sedziak, President, Polish national relief and defence committee in Canada.

The cheque has been turned over to Dr. Robert Fletcher, acting commissioner of the Red Cross.

Mr. Caffeine-Nerves Jumps Off

BILL: Why does the Boss always give me the tough jobs? He knows my nerves are bad!

BOB: I found out that too much caffeine made me feel just like you do! Why don't you cut out tea and coffee for awhile and try Postum?

BILL: Hi Bob! That tip about Postum sure did the trick! No more caffeine-nerves for me!

Many people can safely drink tea and coffee. Many others—and all children—should never drink them. If you are one of these, try Postum's 30-day test. Buy Postum and drink it instead of tea and coffee for one month. Then, if you do not feel better, return the container up to General Foods, Limited, Cobourg, Ontario, and we'll gladly refund full purchase price, plus postage. Postum is delicious, economical, easy to prepare, and contains no caffeine.

Prevent Wool Shrinking

Australia Has Found New Method

That Has Proven Successful. A new method of making wool unshrinkable has been discovered at the McMaster Laboratory in New South Wales and has already been proved successful in large scale tests.

A statement by the Australian wool board said that the wool can be put under the new process for about six cents per pound. Its other advantages are the simplicity of the process, low initial cost for the necessary plant and the absence of any obnoxious odors or fumes.

The statement said it is believed that the processes will widen considerably the market for wool, which has suffered from the public's fear of shrinkage. It added that two other methods of making wool unshrinkable have been evolved in England, but the Australian process promises to be the most effective.

Canada Sells Most Wheat

Canada is still selling more wheat than any other country in the world, with 37 per cent. of the total movement into international trade. Australia and the United States are slipping while the Danube Basin is merely holding its own. Our backlog of wheat reserves may play as important a part in this war as it did in the last.

R. A. F. Bombers Hammer German Positions in Norway

London.—Royal Air Force bombers hammered at both ends of Germany's aerial troop ferry to Norway during the week-end and British troops joined forces with the Norwegians for a reported thrust deep into the heart of the invaded country.

Aalborg in northern Denmark and Kristiansand and Slangerup in southwestern Norway, main points on the 300-mile military air transport system Germany uses to feed men and munitions to the north, were targets of a concerted R.A.F. offensive.

This was the first British bombing raid over Denmark which now is German-occupied territory with its military objectives subject to Allied attack.

Planes, runways and buildings were damaged, the air ministry announced. It added that "all of the large number of aircraft engaged in the operations" returned safely to their bases.

British communiques also told of German attacks on the Allied forces at Namsos, in which no casualties were suffered by Allied troops, and of the shooting down of four German planes on the Western Front.

Press despatches from Stockholm said that British, French and Norwegian troops supported by tanks had taken Hamar—deep in eastern Norway.

The despatches said an Allied detachment starting from the coast at Aandalsnes, part of detachment of Allied forces south of Trondheim, had moved partly by rail and partly by road to Hamar.

There was no confirmation here that the Allies had taken Hamar.

which is on the Oslo-Trondheim railway within 75 miles of the German-occupied Norwegian capital.

The war office, which seems determined to conduct the Norwegian campaign in its early stages with a much secrecy as possible, issued this 14-word communique:

"Operations in Norway are continuing. British troops are operating in conjunction with Norwegian forces."

The admiralty made an indirect admission that Namsos, strategic seaport on a deep fjord 75 miles north of Trondheim, is one of the Allied objectives when it issued the following communique:

"There was considerable enemy air activity off Namsos during April 20 and many bombs were dropped. Extensive damage was caused to the town but the only Allied loss was one British trawler sunk. There were no casualties to Allied troops."

In the raid on Kristiansand air field, airmen of the R.A.F. were reported officially to have dropped "large numbers of high explosive bombs," principally along the line of the runway.

The report said incendiary bombs started a strong fire on the south side of the airfield, close to where a line of aircraft were standing.

"The raid was successfully carried off by two of our aircraft which carried out a low machine-gun attack on the airfield hangars and buildings," said the air ministry.

Control of the air became increasingly important as British rushed troops across the North Sea to Norwegian landing points for the decisive test which, observers predicted, would centre around Trondheim.

Blight On Humanity

Anthony Eden Describes Nature Of The Struggle In Progress

London.—Anthony Eden, secretary of state for the dominions, described the war as "more than a conflict of interests, it was a conflict of worlds," and asserted that "the whole story of civilization waits upon its issue."

The Nazis had boasted that the third Reich would last 1,000 years, he told the Constitutional Club. If that were so, it would be a "thousand years' blight."

Mr. Eden said it was a fallacy to say that Britain ruled the whole British commonwealth.

"British no more rules over Canada than Canada rules over Britain," he declared in emphasizing the equality of the dominions.

The loyalty of the whole Empire is Britain's secret weapon, he asserted.

"Either the German doctrine of submission or our own doctrine of equality must prevail. It is a mistake to imagine that Hitler is being, and will not be seen again. Hitler is not a phenomenon; he is a symptom. He is not something distinct from the German nation; he is the direct expression of a great part of it."

"Just as our conception of world order is the exact opposite of the Nazi, so is our practice in the British commonwealth the antithesis of theirs."

Ruling Is Retroactive

One License Covers All Radio Receiving Sets In Private Residence

Ottawa.—Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of transport, announced that only one radio receiving license will be required for all radio receiving sets installed in a private residence instead of one license for each set as formerly.

This ruling is retroactive to April 1 last when licenses for 1939-40 expired.

Additional licenses still will be required for radio sets in automobiles and similarly a separate license still is necessary for receiving sets installed in each tenement or flat in separate occupation, in hotel rooms and also in quarters of roomers in private dwellings.

The matter of radio licenses has been under consideration for some time by the department and the governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and the governors, recommended that the existing license fee of $2.50 be retained.

The transport minister said another recommendation from the CBC governors being considered was "the question of charging a larger or additional fee for radio receiving sets in public places."

Any overpayment of license fees made during the current fiscal year will be adjusted, the minister said.

Search For Lost Aviators

Spreading Propaganda

Yugoslavia Begins A Clean-Up Of German Visitors

Belgrade.—The Yugoslav government began to clear the country of hundreds of German "visitors" suspected of spreading propaganda and spying for the German secret police. The clean-up was begun in Belgrade, the capital, where thousands of leaflets telling Yugoslavs not to resist Germany had been scattered by Nazi sympathizers from automobiles.

Twenty Germans arrested immediately after the leaflet barrage were expelled from Yugoslavia, and an order was issued that all other foreigners still in Belgrade must leave within 10 days, unless they prove that their presence is "a benefit to the Yugoslav government."

A house-to-house search was decided upon by police of the cities of Zagreb, Ljubljana and towns even closer to the German border.

Scores of German "strangers" in the key Danube town of Novisad were put under a close surveillance.

Foreigners will be required to leave their passports with police in localities where they are permitted to stay. Special permission must be obtained if they wish to visit other parts of the country.

The Scandinavian crisis brought into the open the government's espionage campaign against German espionage, which in recent weeks has allegedly expelled 50 Nazi military experts engaged in "prospecting for oil" in the vicinity of strategic points.

Would Strike Back

Labor Leader Favors Reprisals If Germans Raid England

London.—In the opinion of Herbert Morrison, the Laborite leader in parliament—"if the German air force raids England and attacks the civil population—public opinion would insist that whatever government might be in power must take similar action (in Germany)."

"If they (the Germans) attack we shall not shrink, we shall not collapse, we shall stand up," he added. "Britain will be defended and our counter-stroke will come with power, might and efficiency."

Holland Prepared To Offer Resistance To Foreign Invasion

The Hague.—All Holland, was placed under martial law in a royal decree more far-reaching than any since the constitution guaranteed civil rights to Netherlands 92 years ago.

This action was taken to permit taking of more drastic measures against persons within the nation endangering Netherlands neutrality or who would threaten its safety if Holland were invaded.

It was invoked just after Premier Dirk Jan de Graaf, in a broadcast to the home and empire on two sides of the world, declared that Holland would resist by force of arms any attempt by a foreign power to extend "protective" help to the Netherlands.

Even before Queen Wilhelmina signed the all-encompassing decree, Holland had been doled with hundreds of "islands" of martial law, at points which were important to the country's elaborate and secret system of land, sea and waterline defenses.

Under the decree, the military may take any action from imposing a censorship to calling up civilians at will for either military service or labor.

Already, several announced meetings of National Socialists (Dutch Nazis) have been prevented and police have conducted searches for firearms and ammunition. De Graaf declared the Netherlands would resist with arms any attempt by a foreign power to extend "protective" help to her.

Refusal to accept protection of outside powers, said, applied also to overseas possessions.

Saving Wealth

European Citizens, Afraid Of Invaders, Ship Gold To U.S.

Washington.—European citizens, afraid that invaders or their own governments would seize their wealth, have cashed more than $1,000,000,000 in the United States since the outbreak of the war.

Both the federal reserve board and the commerce department attested to this hoarding, which rivals even the unprecedented gold stores of foreign governments here for safekeeping, currently totalling $1,200,000,000.

Aviator Receives Award

Washington.—The Cheney award for the outstanding act of heroism in the United States air corps in 1939 was awarded to Lieut. Harold L. Neeley who last December risked his life in landing a disabled plane in the mistaken belief there was a helpless passenger aboard. The award, a bronze plaque, carried with it $500 in cash.

It was "protective help" against a phantom Allied plot to intervene that Germany gave as a pretext for the Nazi invasion of Norway recently.

"We have received assurances from both belligerents that they would safeguard this neutrality of ours," he continued. "We trust that this assurance can be relied upon."

"But in any case we wish to make it perfectly clear that we ourselves are perfectly able as well as determined, to protect our neutrality. 'I wish to take this occasion to point out that Holland, at any rate, does not ask for, and is unwilling to accept, the aid or assistance of any third power to maintain its neutrality.'"

He concluded that "Trusting in God, the government and nation will remain strong and defend their liberty."

The prime minister said the Netherlands stood outside the conflict and again offered the services of his government toward bringing about peace when the belligerents are willing to accept its good offices.

A detachment of gendarmes spent three hours in a minute search of the palace of the Nazi leaders in the lower house of The Netherlands parliament, Count M. de Marchant at Aandensburg, police revealed.

Other searches were carried out at Tilburg, where the homes of all local Nazi leaders were entered by police at Breda and at Bois-le-Duc. The newspaper Telegraaf said that munitions caches were found but no arms.

Roundup Foreigners

Turkey Keeping A Close Watch On Subversive Activities

Istanbul.—Police conducted a wholesale roundup of foreigners suspected of subversive activities, prior to expelling them from the country. It was revealed that a former member of parliament had been arrested, after being watched for some time, on the charge of activities directed against the security of the state.

Istanbul, by virtue of its geographic position and the great number of foreigners here, is a hotbed of undercover activity.

More Tourists Visit Canada

Ottawa.—Approximately 8,600 more United States automobiles crossed into Canada during February as tourists came to visit the Dominion than in the same month of 1939 the national revenue department announced. In February, 1939, the total was 141,996 cars, compared with 150,587 last February.

Scene Watched By Royalty

The King And Queen Saw Canadian Regiment Take Over Guard Duty

London.—In a history-making ceremony, a hand-picked detachment of Canada's famed Royal Canadian Mounted Regiment took over guard duty at the King as they took over guard duties at London's royal palaces, Buckingham and St. James'. They mounted guard for four days and then were relieved by the Toronto Scottish for a similar period.

Wearing battle dress and steel helmets, and their gas masks at ready, the boys of the Vingt Deuxieme drew the admiration of the crowd as they swung smartly into the palace courtyard headed by the brass band of the Grenadier Guards and the fifes of the Welsh Guards.

As they entered the gates, the King and Queen, smiling broadly, appeared at a balcony. They remained there to witness the novel scene—the second time in history when men from the senior Dominion have come to guard His Majesty's person. The last occasion was during the coronation when members of the Canadian contingent took over the guard for 24 hours, along with representatives of the other dominions.

Award To Astronomer

Italian Librarian Receives Recognition From Harvard University

Cambridge, Mass.—Harvard University awarded a championship to a star-gazer in Bologna, Italy.

For the third consecutive year, Ettore Loreta, Italian librarian and amateur astronomer, was acclaimed "champion observer of variable stars" among 142 observers in all parts of the world who last year turned in a total of 54,655 observations to the American association of variable star observers, with headquarters at Harvard.

According to Leon Campbell, Pickering astronomer at Harvard, and recorder for the association, Loreta was responsible for 5,500 observations made with an eight-inch telescope loaned him by the association.

Youth Movement

Philadelphia.—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the president, told a women's club that "jobs—not Communism" is the chief concern of young people. She described most youth movements as a "revolt against inactivity."

Envoys To The Balkan States Have Returned To Posts

London.—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons British envoys to the Balkan states "have now left, or are leaving to return to their posts after visits to this country for purposes of consultation."

"During the nine days or so in which they have been here," he said, "they have examined under the chairmanship of the secretary for foreign affairs (Lord Halifax) outstanding problems presented by the situation in southeastern Europe."

The prime minister said the ministers also had conferred with him and Ronald Cross, minister of economic warfare, and Sir John Reith, minister of information, and members of the war cabinet, "with whom they have discussed questions in which these ministers specially are interested."

"His Majesty's representatives also had the opportunity of hearing from Lord Swinton some account of the new United Kingdom commercial corporation and of the work which the corporation intends to carry out in order to develop and place permanently on a broader basis trade exchanges between this country and south eastern European states," he said.

Lord Swinton, former air minister, is chairman of the commercial corporation established earlier this month, financed by the treasury, to increase Balkan trade.

"The purpose of the discussions," the prime minister said, "has been in accordance with the settled policy of His Majesty's government—the preservation of peace and promotion of security in the Balkans and the Danubian countries."

"No one of these states, between whom it is the hope of the Allies to see the growth of mutual understanding, has any cause to fear that the Allies or their forces will ever threaten their independence or integrity."

"In the economic field discussions have been conducted on the basis that it is the policy of His Majesty's government so to develop their relations with these countries as to ensure so far as possible a lasting increase in their commercial exchanges with them."

British Forces In Norway Strengthened By Fresh Landings

London.—British forces in Norway, through to Oslo, but this is becoming being strengthened by fresh landings increasingly difficult because of landings and contact has already British submarines, mines and bomb-bombs made with Norwegian troops.

The war office announced. In an 18-word bulletin the high command announced tersely that "operations are proceeding." This was as far as officials would go in drawing back the curtain on the bleak rugged northern Norwegian seaboard where Allied and German troops are slowly manoeuvring for the first major engagement of the Scandinavian campaign.

The submarine Spearfish returned to a British port after damaging the German pocket battleship Admiral Scheer which was hit by one or more torpedoes. The fate of the Scheer has not been announced.

The press continued to warn the public that sudden big-scale success against the Germans in Norway was improbable at the moment, not only because of the unfavorable terrain over which British troops are operating but also because of inadequate communications.

German troops, operating from Oslo and other southern points, including Bergen, in a fan-shaped movement are not considered to be strongly equipped largely because they must rely for the most part on air transport communications with the Reich.

It is possible that a few troopships and transports are getting

The war office statement on Norway said:

"Landing of British troops in Norway continues. Contact has been made with the Norwegian forces and operations are proceeding."

As in a recent 10-word bulletin that the Allies had landed at "several" points, followed up by an intimation that some Canadians were included in the expedition, the communique gave no indication of where the reinforcements were being put ashore.

Stavanger continued to be subjected to one of the most sustained poundings of aerial history. It was raided for the eighth and ninth times, in addition to the shelling by naval guns for 80 minutes.

"Direct hits were observed on runways and bombs were seen to burst among transport aircraft parked on the southwest side of the airfield," the air ministry reported.

The News Chronicle urged that Britain's fighting services be "given their heads"—or "free rein"—in waging a swift campaign in Norway before the Germans consolidate their positions there.

"We cannot afford to 'take it easy,'" the newspaper said. "Norway must not be another Dardanelles."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

THIS and the next issue of this family journal are left to the tender mercies and skill of the staff, as the editor left on Monday for two weeks in eastern Canada. Therefore, if you have some interesting news, send it along, and advertisers can help by having their copy ready in good time, avoiding delays in publication.

THE Independent members elected to the legislature met on Saturday in Edmonton to discuss their leadership in the house without coming to a decision. Angus J. Morrison, elected as a Labor member for Edmonton, is not aligning himself with the group, though he will be among the opposition forces. Likely he prefers to remain aloof to espouse the cause of Labor and particularly the coal mining industry.

IT is noticed that the provincial Liberal party will retain its identity in provincial politics. That is their privilege, but experience in provincial affairs indicates that the majority have little use for party politics outside of Federal affairs. The province can better be served by an Independent party, for in provincial administration there is no more need for party strife and rivalry than in the administration of our municipal affairs. If we gave our support or withheld it from council and school board candidates because of their political affiliations, we would have difficulty in carrying on. Common sense is the main requisite, and the urge to conduct the public's business as faithfully and honestly as if it were our own personal affair, which it really is.

LAST week Bishop Sherman addressed clergy and laymen of this district on the decision to raise $3,000 in Calgary Diocese, to replace a voluntary reduction of a grant from England. This diocese is over fifty years old, yet it still receives substantial monetary aid from the Society For the Propagation of the Gospel. A lot of this money comes from people in England who are no better off financially than we are, and it is high time that we made up our minds that we have to pay our way instead of being recipients of grants from England. Anglican people, at least some, appear to think that there is a stocking of money hidden in a chimney and if they don't pay to keep the church going money will be forthcoming from this hidden source. The bishop and clergy have long tried to impress on church members that it is their duty and their privilege to do what members of other churches do—pay their own expenses. England has a big enough burden to carry, without trying to keep parishes such as this going. St. Alban's is over thirty years old, and surely there are sufficient people here who if they gave a dollar a month—the cost of three picture shows—would enable the church to carry on without to have continually beg for support. Some give considerably more, but they make up for those who give little or nothing. If we value a church, we should make an effort to support it, little though it be. A little help from many is all that is needed.

ON Monday there is to be a meeting of rink shareholders and others interested in the installation of artificial ice so that we will have senior hockey on a par with other teams in the league. Sports are a necessary factor in our lives to bring variety and enthusiasm, and with united support an ice plant can be secured, thereby assuring a certainty for regularly scheduled games throughout the winter. It can be done, of course, if the enthusiasm and goodwill of the majority is accorded. It is the people living in a place which make it. Don't wait for George do do it—go yourself and show that you are interested in promoting something worth-while for next winter's sports. The summer months slip away all too quickly, and now is the time to get busy.

QUISLING is a name that makes one feel sick. It is the name of a man who apparently was a traitor to Norway. A man who will sell out his country is branded forever as a base, evil traitor. In earlier days such men were beheaded for less traitorous acts. King Charles lost his head for a much lesser offence. Now we are softer-hearted, with the result that there are too many traitors abroad. Canada may have some and it is well to be on guard against insidious propaganda of those who talk of peace and say that Britain and France should not have gone to war with Germany. This war is a conflict of ideals—Totalitarianism versus Democracy. How would you like to be in Denmark, Poland, Czechoslovakia or Finland? You say it could not happen here. But it could, were it not for the British navy and the Empire's fighting forces.

SOME MEN make a hobby of their gardens and home surroundings. A notable instance of this is Archie Beveridge. He has fine ornamental stonework built by himself, and now he is building a rampart on the ledge overlooking the creek where his house stands. A man's home is his castle, and Archie's place begins to look like a castle in reality, with the stone walls and abutments. The only fly in the ointment is that a too prying assessor might cast an eye and figure the place is worth so much more than it was before. That shows the lack of good judgment in taxing improvements. A man who has sufficient enterprise to make home improvements or improvements to his business property should not be penalized for it. Make the land the basis of taxation. The single tax is the fairest. But to return to where we started, Archie is making a good job of his stonework and garden, and that's why we are prompted to give him due recognition in this column. If we were all as handy as him, what a lovely town we would have!

TIME does not permit us to fill out this column, therefore it will be left to the tender mercies of the staff.

TAMING THE SHREW

(T.C. Macleod)

It happened at the boundary line. American customs officers, as usual, were on hand when the south-bound passenger train pulled into the station, their job being to examine all baggage before crossing into the States. The passengers had opened their grips and trunks for examination. A determined-looking lady, however, with a Saxeberg trunk heavily corded, stood next in line with the writer, who, noticing the lady's non-compliance with the order given, and thinking her unequal to the task, offered to uncord the trunk, being greeted with a stony stare and a contemptuous "mind your own business, sir," and this remark completely floored us. The official, a hard-featured individual, reaching the woman, ordered her to at once open the trunk, but this she flatly refused to do. Time did not permit of an extended argument, and it was not until the ropes had been slashed that the irate woman pounced upon the lace-adorned articles, upon which many eyes had too long lingered, slammed down the trunk lid with unnecessary violence and the incident was closed. Moral: Don't obstruct an officer in the discharge of his duties.

ENGLAND IN THE 15th CENTURY

Two hundred years earlier, England established the art of brewing commercially. It was at this time the water of Burton on the Trent began to be famous. The monks were first to discover the secrets of this famous water. There is a document, dated 1495, in which it is stated that Matilda, daughter of Nicolas de Thoben, had released to the Abbot of Burton certain tenements. In return she was granted daily for life, two loaves, two gallons of BEER and a penny, besides seven gallons of BEER for the men.

AND TODAY

More and more people are learning anew about how BEER contributes to better living. It offers companionship when you're alone . . . fellowship when among friends and an economical, sensible flourish to the hospitality that graces your home.

Bellevue United Church To Sponsor May 24 Celebration

Bellevue United church will again sponsor its annual May 24 celebration, an event which creates increasing interest each year among citizens of the Pass towns.

Six Bellevue high school girls have been chosen as candidates for May queen. Tickets at 25c each will go on sale shortly and each ticket carries ten votes to whichever girl sells it.

The proceeds of the celebration goes into the church improvement fund.

Cardston town council has appropriated $5,000 to start erection of a new town hall, with cost of completion to be budgeted next year. The parts expected to be completed this year are the town office, council chamber, police station and public rest rooms, leaving the public meeting hall and public library to be completed next year.

SO STERN ABOUT TAXES

(High River Times)

Human beings are noteworthy for their inconsistencies. For example, they are much sterner in their attitude toward municipal taxation than toward the much greater demands imposed by senior governments. Yet it is in the field of municipal taxation that they actually see and enjoy the results. And they are much sterner and more inquiring about their municipal taxation than about their innumerable other expenditures, through such agencies as charities, amusements, etc.

Take the school tax as one feature of municipal taxation. In the town of High River, the school tax is a little better than one-third of the total mill rate. The man who pays $100 in taxes will thus be paying about $35 for the support of the schools, whether he has one child or half-a-dozen children benefitting. The proportionate payment may vary in country districts, but out of a year's income, this is actually a very small amount. In return his children and his neighbor's children have the benefit of a high standard of education from the age of six to eighteen years. The school buildings are his. He has an investment before his very eyes, a permanency for the development of intelligent, responsible citizenship. Yet if his school tax is raised by as much as $5.00 he is likely to howl blue ruin. At the same time he is probably spending as much as his school tax on tobacco during the year. His light bill alone probably costs as much as his school tax. He may be spending as much or more on picture shows, fraternities and so on. His casual charities doubtless amount to much more, and three or four trips to the city would eat up as much as he pays out in a year to keep the machinery of education running.

The point is, that most people are acutely tax conscious especially as to the taxes which actually bring them most visible benefit. They will haggle and dispute over expenditure on something that will be of lasting value to the district, something that they can see for their money. And almost at the same moment they may spend twice as much on something else transient and utterly valueless. This attitude toward expenditures which are in the interests of the community would be more understandable, if it were paralleled by equally careful scrutiny of other tolls for causes farther afield. It is not. There is a childishness that is rather touching, but at the same time provoking, in the way the public will support vague projects, one thousand or ten thousand miles away. And there is no follow up or inquiry to find out where the contributions have gone, or what actually has been accomplished. But let it be something needed right at home, which will be of benefit here and now, and fifty years from now, and the taxpayer tightens right up, and is almost impossible to convert.

Consistency is a rare jewel.

TROPHY WON BY COLEMAN

Highlight of Musical Festival

The highlight of the Tuesday evening session, so far as Coleman was concerned, was the competition for high school choruses, a class which included choirs of high school girls from Blairmore, Pincher Creek and Coleman. For the past ten years this competition has been won annually by the Pincher Creek chorus under the direction of Mr. A. B. McMurdo. This year the Coleman girls, under the leadership of Mr. James Cousins, tied with Pincher Creek for first place with 167 marks each. This is indeed a formidable accomplishment and too much credit cannot be given to Mr. Cousins and his girls. The adjudicator stressed the fine quality of tone, and the pleasing interpretation given to the two test pieces by the Coleman group. Their enunciation was excellent and the phrases well rounded out. There is little doubt that, profiting by the experience gained this year, Coleman will be able to go on to better things, and that next year the high school challenge shield will come to Coleman for the whole year. This writer believes that arrangements should be made whereby Mr. Cousins would be able to devote all his time to the teaching of music in the Coleman schools, starting with the children when they are quite small and gradually developing their musical sense proportionally with the three Rs. —Contributed.

The final item of the C.N.P. Musical Festival on Wednesday, April 17, was the competition for church choirs for the Pincher Creek Cup for senior choirs. The cup was won this year by St. Paul's United Church Choir of Coleman with the high marks of 85 and 84 for two selections. The choir was complimented on its firm intonation and security of cord structure. "The parts were true horizontally and vertically," said Mr. Hubble, the adjudicator, "and the choir managed to maintain the feeling of reverence and worship throughout." Conductor Dr. C. Ross is to be congratulated on the fine showing of his choir.

A NEW AND BETTER OIL

For Your Car, Truck and Tractor

ONLY IMPERIAL OIL USES ALL FOUR

Of these modern, scientific refining processes in the manufacture of the New Marvelube Vacuum Distillation—separates gummy, black substances from the oil which in an engine, cause heavy carbon deposits. Phenol Solvent Refining—removes undesirable materials from the lubricating oil, the presence of which causes oil to sludge badly. Solvent Dewatering—separates the wax from the oil, permitting it to flow freely at low temperatures, which, in turn, allows the engine to start over easily in cold weather. Contact Clay Treatment—gives the oil its final polish and removes the last trace of impurities, ensuring the production of an oil of highest quality.

The New Marvelube, most modern development in engine lubrication, is now ready for your car, truck and tractor. It was developed in Imperial Oil research laboratories, and was specially engineered to meet the requirements of today's engines, and to stand up under the higher speeds, temperatures and pressures at which they operate.

Marvelube has always been a leader among motor oils. The New Marvelube retains all the previous high qualities—in addition it brings you these two definite advantages:

1. Economy. Under the high temperatures and pressures at which today's motors operate, the New Marvelube stands up longer. Definitely you use less oil.
2. A cleaner, livelier engine. New, scientific refining methods give this oil new standards of purity never before possible. The engine of your car, truck or tractor stays clean and lively. Wear is reduced. Upkeep costs come down.

This new oil will save you money on this summer's operations. You'll save oil. You'll save upkeep costs. You'll get more power from the fuel you use. Ask your Imperial Oil agent about the New Marvelube.

Imperial Oil Announces New Motor Oil

New Refining Methods Give Qualities Never Before Obtainable

A recent survey shows that the petroleum industry leads in scientific research work and this is one reason why the quality of motor fuels and oils is continuously being improved. A notable improvement in motor oils is announced in this issue of this paper by Imperial Oil Limited. The New Marvelube Oil which is now being sold by Imperial Oil agents and dealers in this district is said to last longer, give better protection of engines and more economy of operation because its refining has been carried further by new scientific methods developed by long research work in the company's big research laboratories.

The new oil is said to be the first oil to be made by using the four modern refining processes. By using all four of these processes, instead of a smaller number, Imperial scientists announce they have obtained qualities never before possible in a motor oil.

Each refining process used removes some of the undesirable properties from the crude oil so that the oil finally produced is a pure lubricant, containing nothing but the qualities necessary to provide safe lubrication at all temperatures.

One process separates the gummy black substances from the oil which cause heavy carbon deposits in an engine. Another process removes undesirable components which cause oil to break down and form sludge. A third process removes the wax so that the oil flows freely at all temperatures, and the fourth process removes the last trace of impurities and gives the oil its final polish, ensuring the production of an oil of highest quality.

The new oil was developed for use in motor cars, trucks and tractors and is distributed from coast to coast by Imperial Oil agents and dealers.

Coleman Motors are authorized dealers in Coleman for Imperial Oil products.

PET BEAR IS MUCH TOO SLEEPY TO LOOK FOR FEBRUARY SHADOW

Russell Deachman, Agent at Flower, Ontario, Upsets Adage at First Hand

About six months ago, while Russ. Deachman, caretaker agent at Flower station, on the Kingston subdivision, was tramping through the woods near his home, he came upon a bear cub about two months old. With little difficulty he was able to catch it and now has a seventy-pound bear as a "pet." He has named his pet Buster and claims that he is more intelligent than most dogs. Buster goes along on a leash and follows directly in his master's steps on hikes.

Early in December Mr. Deachman, knowing that Buster was getting rather tired, built a "den" for him. He secured a large barrel and covered it with about a foot of earth, leaving a small opening in the top of the barrel so that he could have a look at his pet every once in a while. The front of the barrel was left open to allow Buster to leave at any time. Buster went to bed December 27, after stuffing the entrance of his "den" with hay, and he is still sleeping.

Mr. Deachman advises that he is afraid he will have to dispel that old adage that the bear comes out on February 2, to see his shadow. At Flower it was a cold day with some snowflurries, but Buster could have seen his shadow had he cared to come out. In the afternoon Mr. Deachman lifted the cover on top of the "den" and called his pet by name. Buster slowly raised his head, which during his extended sleep is practically under his body, blinked his eyes, put his head back again and is still sleeping.

SERVICE—WITH A SMILE

To The Christian Science Monitor: I read with interest and with a chuckle your editorial of appreciation for the Gas Station Operator's cheerful service even when customers buy nothing. Being a station operator myself I appreciate the manifestation of appreciation. It is good to know that some few appreciate the station men's effort, even if the public in general does not. However, I will assure the writer of the editorial that the cheer manifested by operators while rendering service is sometimes more feigned than actual.

Having been in the service station business for twenty years, I have noticed with concern and often with disgust the steady decline in the public's sense of appreciation, and an ever increasing tendency to take all services and conveniences for granted, and with apparently no sense of obligation. From experience I know it is more blessed to give than to receive. I just cannot help feeling, though, that a lot of service rendered humanity nowadays is like casting pearls before swine. Certainly, serving imposition, ingratitude, selfishness, laziness, inconsideration, does no one any good.

Summed up, I suppose all this is just one of the many signs that collective humanity as yet falls far short of the Golden Rule standard of living. And there is no better way to hasten mankind's arrival at this perfect standard than by learning to be truly appreciative. True appreciation is the perfect antidote for selfishness, which is the cause of all economic iniquity.

With the announcement from Ottawa that R. Watson Sellar had been promoted from Comptroller of Treasury to Auditor General of Canada, editors of weekly newspapers received the news of this appointment with considerable satisfaction and pride. For Mr. Sellar was at one time editor of Quebec's outstanding English-language weekly newspaper, the Huntington Citizen, which continues to be capably edited by his brother, Adam L. Sellar, a former president of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association. It is interesting to note that Mr. Sellar's first job with the Dominion of Canada was in the army during the Great War at $11.10 a day. Today as Auditor General his salary is $15,000 per annum.—The Canadian Statesman, Bowmanville.

What Railway Coal Orders Mean to Alberta Steam Coal Mines

A man might think his little bit of business doesn't affect the total very much, but if every merchant in these towns patronized trucking companies, and railroad companies found it advisable to transfer their orders elsewhere, then every one without exception would be hunting new jobs and new locations; mine workers would lose hundreds of thousands of dollars in giving up homes which they have worked hard for years to secure.

It Could Happen Here!

This is no exaggerated picture; it could happen here as it has happened elsewhere, and it is suicidal for any merchant to ignore the fact.

FIGHT FOR IDEALS

"I am far from thinking that the wounds inflicted on our civilization need be mortal. But I do think that we are fighting for its life; and inasmuch as that life finally depends upon the ideals that inspire it, I think we have no choice but to resist and defeat by force the attack to which those ideals—yours as well as mine—are now exposed."—Lord Halifax at Oxford.

Wild Mustard Reduces Crop Yields

Yields Lowered By Fifty Per Cent. In Some Cases

Wild mustard in a crop is a definite cause of lessened grain yields. The suggestion is sometimes made that in a good growth year, wild mustard in a crop does not matter; but the effect is, that even under conditions which allow a weedy crop to produce a high yield, the returns would have been larger but for the presence of the wild mustard.

Tests have been conducted for the past six years at the Regina Experimental Sub-Station where the competitive effect of wild mustard in wheat, oats and barley has been measured under a variety of rates and dates of seeding of grain crops. States John Cameron, Officer-in-charge. The proportion of wild mustard has varied very considerably under these different conditions but in all cases the presence of wild mustard has resulted in a reduction of crop yields. Under weedy conditions yields have been lower by 50 per cent. or more and in general the reduction in yield has been closely proportional to the amount of wild mustard in the crop.

To lessen the wild mustard infestation and resultant loss in yield it is recommended that the farmer use sound seed, sown reasonably early to just sufficient depth to secure good germination moisture and that the seedling be done at a rate which would be considered heavy for the soil and district. Phosphate fertilizers have also been useful in overcoming wild mustard infestation under conditions which give growth response to the use of the fertilizer.

Proud Of His Job

Ontario Blacksmith Considers His Work Finest In The World. He doesn't stand under an spreading chestnut tree and the muscles of his brawny arms don't stick out like iron bands, but S. H. Richards, Tilbury, Ont., who is observing his 35th year as a blacksmith, is just as good a "smithy" as can be found in those parts.

He claims there is no finer work in the world. In the summer his brow is wet with honest sweat as he works at his forge, but "a job is a job and it can be a position if you like it," says Richards.

The poem, "The Village Blacksmith," is one of the greatest tributes blacksmiths have ever been paid. Mr. Richards said. He believes it typical of the many men who were engaged in the business and of the small number who are still struggling with it.

Mr. Richards was born in Devon, England, and came to Canada 30 years ago and took a job as blacksmith in Woodstock. He has since worked at Brantford and Hamilton and came to Tilbury in 1925.

Took Long Voyage

Two British Youths Had Unexpected Trip To South America

To start out for a day's trip in a small boat and end in a voyage to South America and back, was the adventure of a couple of youths from Camber, Sussex.

Frederick Charles Sudherden, aged 19, and David Charles Ashton, aged 23, went out in a small boat for a day's trip. A stiff wind blew up and they were carried out to sea.

The 8,000-ton Dutch ship Westpale sighted them but she was bound for South America. So to South America they had to go. Later they were transferred to the Burslein and brought home.

They said they had had lovely summer weather, and had spent most of the time lazing on the deck of the ship.

The Educated Man

Is One Who Keeps Adding To What He Already Knows

An educated man is not a person whose head is filled with all the knowledge he requires in order to be a success in life; because no one head could hold all the knowledge it is necessary to have at ones command in order to get through this world comfortably.

Education teaches men to think clearly; but most of it teaches them where and how to look when they wish to discover knowledge which they do not possess.

Gardening

Fred The Lawn

No garden is complete without a lawn and the richer, greener and softer that lawn is, the better the whole picture.

The average person forgets that grass is an ordinary garden plant requiring food and care just as much as flowers or vegetables. Seed selection is also just as important. Good seed is produced from top quality, packaged lawn grass mixtures, which contain proper proportions of the faster permanent grasses. Seed should be sown liberally and the ground fertilized. Rolling in the Spring and watering regularly are also advisable.

Sometimes tree roots work up towards the surface simply because there is water to be had none beneath. Heavy watering of lawns once a week rather than light daily sprinklings will prevent this danger and will also be best for the lawn itself.

This treatment will keep grass a rich, dark green and growing fast enough to crowd out the weeds. Patches of the latter in old lawns are usually a sure sign that soil is wearing out and needs fertilizing. In wet weather grass should not be cut so short or as often as in the Spring and Fall.

Speedy Vegetables Are Tender

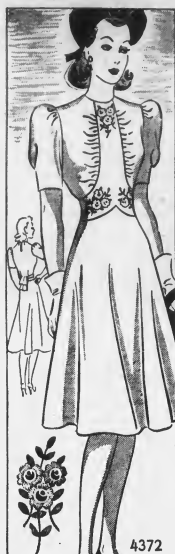

Tender vegetables are quickly grown. A check by dry weather or anything else invariably causes woodiness. To eliminate such danger, experienced market gardeners push their plants into the ground frequent application of commercial fertilizer. This must be applied carefully so as not to be close to but not actually touching stems or roots.

Cultivation Is Vital

Aside from the planning and planting no early gardening job compares in importance with cultivation. Authorities do not ask one to keep the hoe going all Summer, far from it. But the hoe must be used in the garden. To dig once thoroughly first thing in the Spring, then cultivated once or twice afterwards. With proper tools the work need not be more than healthy exercise. For the purpose there is nothing better than a little hoe or five finger cultivator or a Dutch hoe. Either of these implements will make short work of a vegetable or flower garden. Cultivation serves a double purpose, it keeps down weeds and it conserves moisture.

DRESS IS GAY WITH EMBROIDERY

Knitted Articles Needed

Canadian Women Urged To Keep On With This Work

Mr. Wallace Campbell, national head of the women's war work committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society, has appealed to Canadian women to continue knitting articles for men of the fighting forces.

"Although there is a slowing down on the making of a selected list of hospital and surgical supplies because of the quantity on hand at the present time, there must be no let-up in knitting socks, scarves, sweaters, helmets and so on," she said.

"Just now we have enough wristbands and unit bandages to equip four women to concentrate on other knitted articles."

I Read---And Write---For You

By JOHN C. KIRKWOOD

You have probably heard and seen on the stage or in the movies that fine English actor, Sir Cedric Hardwicke. Like so many men, Cedric Hardwicke may be called a "detoured" man. His father was a physician, and wanted his son to be a doctor; yet Cedric had the wish to be an actor, and an actor he became. It is said that he got the actor idea in his childhood: he attended a circus, and saw a sword-swallower's act. So when the boy got home he tried to swallow a carving knife. He barely survived the attempt, yet the early wish to be a public entertainer took root, and to-day the one-time medical student is a titled actor—and a Hollywooded one. Most great actors want to go to Hollywood before they die.

London has a Black Hole, only it is called the Black Museum. Few people ever get into it. It is a Scotland Yard chamber an underground affair. Detectives get in to see it, but no photographers. It is not a gay place. Its exhibits, on walls and in cases, are souvenirs of crime—crime committed in the past half century. There are to be found boxes and trunks in which human beings had been put by the murderers. And there are knives, pistols, judges' axes, pokers—and other imaginable horrible things.

This Black Museum—a rather secret place—is being shown in a film, "Raffles," which may some day soon be shown in Canada. It is a reconstruction of the life of the writer of the screen play, "Raffles," John Van Druten, once saw the Black Museum, and what he saw

In Spite Of Penalty

How Foreign Broadcasts Circulate In Germany Makes Good Story

The war is building up a magnificent fund of apocryphal anecdote, and the following tale has just arrived from London. A family of Schmidts, it seems, had a son on a German U-boat, and they and their whole Rhinecland village were very proud of him. Came the day when they were informed that his submarine with all hands aboard had been lost.

The Schmidts were properly sympathized with by the village. Adolf Gruppenehrer who called on them advised them to take comfort in patriotic marches on the radio, but the family turned the dial aimlessly after his departure, and to their consternation found themselves listening to a German voice from London. The voice said: "We shall now read a further list of German prisoners of war. They have been saved from U-58 and are interned in Great Britain." Listening with all their ears, the Schmidts heard the name, "Max Schmidt," and they were so proud they did not listen any more, but rejoiced mightily. They started out to tell their friends. And then stopped short. There was a penalty of three years' imprisonment for listening to the foreign radio! So the Schmidts contained themselves and rejoiced inwardly. So did the whole village, which in its various ways heard the news too.

At the memorial service, already announced for the next day in honor of the hero, the officiating clergyman could not distinctly hear who he came to the young man's name and never actually pronounced it. That evening the burgermaster called on the Schmidts, and told them he was a great believer in dreams, that on the previous night he had distinctly dreamed that Otto was safe, and that if he were with him, he would worry any more. The milkman, the butcher, the baker and many others made occasions to tell the Schmidts very much the same story. Every body shared the goods. And nobody had listened to the London radio!

First Steam Automobile

Toronto Man Recalls Thrill He Got

From infant Head of the Gt. Eighty-eight years old, Thomas H. Goodison, Orchard View Blvd., Toronto, looked back into his memories recently and recalled how he backed Charles Price in the manufacture of Toronto's first "steam automobile." Born in Ireland, Mr. Goodison came to Canada in 1856 with his father.

The steam automobile appeared to be a thing of the future, Mr. Goodison said, until the advent of the internal combustion engine. It had been improved until a trip of 50 miles "could be made quite easily."

Mr. Goodison was a friend of the inventor and still remembers, he said, the thrill he got when he took his first ride in the horseless carriage.

The Chinese Way

A jealous Chinese swain in Shanghai saved away his ex-sweetheart's hair and used it to make a good job it collapsed during the ceremony and the bride and 17 guests were killed.

There was photographed on his memory. Most of us would rather see the memorized museum than the real thing. The film "Raffles" ought to be good, for the story was a genuine thriller.

Once I heard a story, which always gets a laugh, about two colored men who were fleeing from a place where they had tried to steal chickens: they had been fired at by the owner of the chickens. They had turned at some corner, and so were out of the line of fire. "Did you hear that bullet?" asked Mose. "I heard it, but it didn't reach me." "Did you hear it twice?" demanded Mose. Said Sam, "I first heard it when it passed me, and the next time when I passed it."

Well, they are making aeroplanes now which fly faster than bullets. They are also making planes able to fly 600 miles an hour, and the speed of a bullet shot from a 43-calibre automatic revolver is 475 miles an hour—at that rate. Perhaps I ought to say that some planes can fly faster than aeroplanes.

To get maximum speed for some bullets and to keep them going at maximum speed long enough to do their job, they are making them after the manner of "those rockets" which are supposed to be able to carry men to Mars or the moon; they put a series of explosives in their tails. These explosives go off at fixed intervals and give the rocket—and bullet—a fresh push.

There is no need to go on with the tale of aeroplanes and can cut off bullets. It suffices to point out what is being both attempted and accomplished in aerial warfare.

ISAIAH COMFORTS AN AFFLICTED PEOPLE

Golden text: God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Psalm 46:1. Lesson: Isaiah 40. Devotional reading: II. Corinthians 13:7.

Explanations and Comments

Comforting Words: Judah's Hard Days are Ended, Her Guilt Paid Off. Isaiah 40:1, 2. Jerusalem had fallen prey to the Babylonian power and her land waste, and the majority of her people had long been living as exiles in Babylon. It is now toward the end of the captivity and the scene is Babylon.

Console my people, console them—'Tis the voice of your God—Speak to Jerusalem tenderly to be Proclaim to her that her hard days are ended, her guilt paid off, that she has received from the Eternal's hand Full punishment for all her sins.

Speak ye comfortably to Jerusalem. Jerusalem stands for all their people. The prophet was putting before them the great kingdom in Persia, east of Babylon, and the prophet saw that Babylon would fall before him as other kingdoms had done, and then the captives would be freed. And this did come to pass. Not only were they permitted to leave but they were helped on their way by Cyrus. "Isaiah's good news came out of a fact; his confidence was founded on an event; a great thing had happened. Cyrus had arisen, and Isaiah had the insight to see in him the harbinger of God by whom the people's chains were to be broken. He saw the fact; he saw the meaning of the fact; he saw God in the fact, and he went to the people and said to them, 'You are going home: it is already time to pack up.' (Richard Roberts)

Submarine Chasers

Giant Marine Engines Are Being Made In Canada

Giant marine engines for submarine chasers are being made in Canada. British navies propose to combat any intensification of submarine warfare on allied shipping are being made in a Toronto plant.

Boilers for the engines are large enough to serve as railway water-tanks, and the complete engine weighs slightly 100 tons. The engine itself is about 60 feet long.

The engines made in Toronto are for delivery to shipbuilders in Canada who, in turn, are building the fast, powerful submarine chasers for both the Royal Canadian Navy and the Royal Navy. The vessels serve as combination anti-submarine craft and minesweepers.

Moving the boilers from Toronto to the shipbuilding yards gave the railways a nice problem. A special routing had to be worked out as the boilers protrude over the sides of the ordinary railway flat car. Even then a few cuttings along the selected right-of-way had to be widened.

Sawmill Waste

Might Be Used In Manufacture Of Wood Pulp

With Canada likely to be called on for increased wood pulp exports because of the Nazi invasion, it will eliminate exports from that country, the department of mines and resources drew attention to the saving that might be effected in the Dominion by cutting down sawmill waste.

Spruce sawmill waste in eastern Canada, if delivered to pulp mills, would have a potential value of $3,000,000, the department said in a report from its forest products laboratories.

Use of this waste to manufacture chemical pulp would reduce the drain on Canada's forests and allow lower operating costs of saw mills where the waste is marked off as lumber costs.

Annually about 440,000 cords of sound woods are destroyed in refuse burners.

Aeronautical Training

A School of Aeronautical Engineering, British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, has been opened in Montreal. Professor Thomas Richardson London, of the Department of Applied Engineering in the Faculty of Applied Science at Engineering at the University of Toronto, is in command of the school. He holds the rank of Squadron Leader. Courses extending over a period of six months will provide for the instruction of 36 officers, who will be posted to various training schools throughout the country.

Health LEAGUE OF CANADA
 presents
TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST
 by DR. J. W. S. McCULLOUGH

BOOKS ON HEALTH

The Health League of Canada to take full advantage of a fine series of health books recently published by the Federal Department of Pensions and National Health at Ottawa.

"The widest publicity should be given to these valuable booklets," declared Dr. Gordon Bates, General Director of the Health League. "Organizations of all kinds should write for the booklets and see that the contents are brought before their membership."

The booklets are written in simple, everyday language, each booklet dealing with a specific subject such as "Hay Fever and Asthma," "Typhoid Fever" and "Holiday Health."

Health experts were engaged by the Dominion Government to prepare the leaflets. They should be of great service to teachers of Canada, Dr. Bates said.

The series of booklets, which are free for the asking, would make up a fine layman's library on health education, according to Health League officials.

"Particularly in war-time should special care be given to the health of Canada," Dr. Bates said to-day. "Canada is fighting a powerful enemy, and every resource at our command should be brought to bear in the fight. We will contribute toward the effort of the allies if we maintain and improve the health of our people."

A vast amount of information is available on health education and the prevention of disease, the League Director said. "It's a pity more people don't take advantage of these free publications," he said, urging citizens to write to the Federal Department of Health for copies of the new booklets.

Editorial Note: Readers desiring the complete text of Dr. McCullough's cancer articles at once may secure same by writing to The Health League of Canada, 105 Bond St., Toronto, Ont.

Appalling Atrocities

New Pamphlet Charges Germany With Brutality In Poland

A new pamphlet on alleged German atrocities in German-occupied Poland issued by the Polish embassy, charged that Catholic priests had been assassinated or buried alive, beaten and sentenced to death without trial.

The pamphlet entitled "the situation of the Catholic church in German-occupied Poland as described by a priest recently arrived from Poland" said the "night apocalyptic religion is intensified day by day."

"There is no diocese in which priests have not been assassinated without guilt having been proven. In Pomerania and Poznan a real massacre of priests occurred and some of the assassinated were buried while still alive."

"In the diocese of Poznan, Torun and in Pomerania priests were shot by the tens by Gestapo agents... German authorities state that priests have only been detained. But why were they imprisoned and severely guarded as if they were criminals, often in the company of thieves and prostitutes, as for example at Rzeszow, Tarnobrzeg and other places?"

World Record Ski Jump

The world record ski jump was made in Yugoslavia by Olaf Ulland, who soared through the air for a distance of 337 feet. The next best was 331 feet 4 inches, by Joseph Bradl on the same slide. The longest jump in the United States was made by Halver Halstead, who leaped 262 feet at Big Pines, Calif.

According to a test made in 100,000 cases in England, women's skin is one degree cooler than men's, on the average.

CHAPTER II.

Some eight months later there was a motorcar accident on the Thames Embankment. The girl in the yellow mackintosh and the man in the Balacava helmet were of one accord—they were anxious, for different reasons, to cross the most dangerous stretch of the Embankment in the quickest possible space of time. There was a slight fog which gave promise if being just plain fog before the evening was far advanced. And through the fog, percolated an unpleasant drizzle which turned the polished surface of the road into an insurance risk which no self-respecting company would have accepted.

The mudguard of the ancient Ford caught Aileen Rivers just below the left elbow, and she found herself performing a series of unheeded pirouettes. Then her nose struck a shining white button and she slid romantically to her knees at the feet of a resentful policeman. He lifted her, looked at her, put her aside with great firmness, and crossed to where the radiator of the car was staring pathetically up a bent lamp post.

"What's the idea?" he asked sternly, and groped for his notebook. The young man in the Balacava helmet wiped his soiled face with the back of his hand, a gesture which resulted in the further spread of his griminess.

"Was the girl hurt?" he asked quickly.

"Never mind about the girl; let's have a look at your license."

Unheeding this authoritative demand, the young man stalked across to where Aileen, embarrassed by the crowd which gathered, was assuring several old ladies that she wasn't hurt. She was standing on her two feet to prove it.

"Waggle your toes about," suggested a hoarse-voiced woman, "they won't move your back's broke!"

Scotland Yard

The experiment was not made, for at that moment the tall young man (who did not look so young in the diffused light of an arc lamp) pushed his way to the centre of the curious throng.

"Not hurt, are you?" he asked anxiously. "I'm awfully sorry—really! Didn't see the tilt the car was right on top of you."

A voice from the crowd offered advice and admonition.

"You ought to be careful, mister! You might have killed somebody."

"Tell me your name, won't you?"

He dived into his pocket, found an old envelope, and paused.

"Really it isn't necessary. I'm quite unhurt," she insisted, but he was also insistent.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR LIVER

It may be the cause of your troubles. Buck it up the right way, with Fruit-A-Tives. Feel grand.

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It pours out bile to digest food, gets rid of waste, stores energy, allows the proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order (indigestion, constipation, headache, backache, nervousness, etc.) you feel miserable. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. You feel "rotten"—headache, backache, dizziness, etc.—and you know it.

Relieve yourself of these miseries, as thousands do—with Fruit-A-Tives, for 35 years Canada's largest selling liver remedy. Fruit-A-Tives stimulate your liver, bring prompt relief—make you feel like a new person. Get Fruit-A-Tives at your druggist's today, 25c, 50c.

A Relation

"Fotheringay Mansions." He fingered his grimy chin. "How positively swaggy!"

She turned on him in sudden anger.

"I've accepted your escort, Mr. . . ."

"Carleton," he murmured; "half-brother to the hotel but no relation to the club. And this is fame! We were saying!"

"I was going to say that I wished you would not talk. You have done your best to kill me this evening; you might at least let me die in peace."

He peered through the fog-shrouded window.

"There's an old woman selling chrysanthemums at the corner of Westminster Bridge; we might stop and buy you some flowers." And then, quickly, "I'm terribly sorry, and I won't ask you any question at all or make any questions at all or make any comments upon your plutocratic residence."

"I don't live there," she said in self-defence. "I go there sometimes to see the place is kept in order. It belongs to a—a—relation of mine who is abroad."

"Monte Carlo?" he murmured.

"A jolly nice place, too! Rien ne va plus! Pailles vos jeux, monseigneur! Personally, I prefer San Remo. Blue sky, blue sea, green hills, white houses—everything like a railway postcard." And then he went off at a tangent: "And talking of blueness, you were lucky not to be hit by the blue limousine; it was going faster than I, but it has a better braking system. I rammed his petrol tank in the fog, but even that didn't make him stop."

Her lips curled in the darkness.

"A criminal escaping from justice, oh, thinks? How terribly romantic!"

The young man chuckled.

"One thinks wrong. It was a millionaire on his way to a city banquet. And the only criminal charge I can bring home to him is that he was a large diamond stud in his shirt, which offense is more against my esthetic taste than the laws of my country, God bless it!"

The cab was slowing, the driver leaning sideways, seeking to identify the locality.

"We're here," said Mr. Carleton, opened the door of the taxi while it was still in motion, and jumped out.

The machine stopped before the portals of Fotheringay Mansions.

"Thank you very much for bringing me home," said Aileen primly and politely, and added, not without malice: "I've enjoyed your conversation very much."

"You should hear my aunt," said the young man. "Her line of talk is sheer poetry!"

He watched her until she was swallowed in the gloom, and returned to the cab.

"Scotland Yard," he said laconically; "and take a bit of a rest, O son of Nimrod. Your tango solo makes me ill; put some jazz into it!"

Little Milton: "Why do they call it a mite box?"

Big Brother: "Because you might put something in it and you might not."

Squolia trees tower almost 300 feet into the air, yet their roots seldom penetrate the soil more than six feet.

In northern Italy cheese rolling is a favorite sport. Rolled for distance, the cheeses weigh from five to 70 pounds.

A More Beautiful Canada

Efforts Should Be Put Forth To Make The Home Surroundings Attractive.

The old saying that a home is not a home until it is planted is true today as ever. Every unplanted home in Canada can be made more attractive by the judicious use of trees, shrubs, vines, flowers and a well-kept lawn.

We are influenced by our surroundings to a greater degree than we sometimes realize. Children are particularly sensitive in this regard. Surely a home in and around which flowers are grown is a better place to bring up children than a home where no attention is paid to these friends of the plant kingdom.

If children are taught to love flowers and become familiar with them they will be filled with love for these things and there will be less room to bring up children than a home where no attention is paid to these friends of the plant kingdom.

Canada is a land of rare natural beauty from the Bras d'Or Lakes in Cape Breton Island to the Mountain Ranges of the Pacific Coast. Nature has endowed this country with the most beautiful and the greatest variety of natural scenic grandeur to be found anywhere in the universe.

mountains, lakes, streams, forests, plains, waterfalls, all are to be found in great abundance. The things which are unsightly and unlovely are made by man and it would seem that the least we can do is to make these man-made places sufficiently attractive that they will, in some measure at least, be in keeping with the great natural beauty to be found throughout this great Dominion.

There are many good reasons why every householder, rural or urban, should do his or her part toward making the home surroundings more attractive. In the first place, the money spent for nursery stock or other planting material is a good investment and will increase the value of a home to a much greater extent than the amount spent for planting material. Further, in the full and satisfactory life there must be found time for both mental and physical relaxation and, where can be found a more satisfactory place to get away from war-time stress and strain than among the flowers of the garden.

Another reason for putting forth a special effort in home beautification work just now is to make Canada more attractive to tourists. The tourist trade from the United States is very important to Canada at the present time and anything that can be done to help increase it will be a benefit to the Dominion as a whole.

We frequently meet with the objection that gardens and flowers cost too much or that they take too much time. The truth is that it is not so much a matter of time or money as it is of desire and disposition. If we are disposed to have gardens and flowers and attractive home surroundings, we will have them no matter how busy we may be. Your nearest Experimental Farm or Agricultural College will gladly give you information regarding suitable varieties of planting material for the district in which you live. The investment that you make of time and money in this connection will pay great dividends in satisfaction and if you make your home more attractive you have helped to improve the town or community more beautiful.

Large estates and state-owned lands in Finland are to be divided up to provide new farms for 340,000 farm residents who have migrated from those parts of their country ceded to Russia.

While many countries would welcome Finns as immigrants, Finland wants her people to remain in their own land. As the country is not over-populated, provision can be made for them.

A Lot Of Food

It's estimated, says Neal O'Hara, in the New York Post, that in the course of a year the average American adult eats 132 pounds of meat and fish, 164 of potatoes, 329 of milk and cream, 217 of cereal, 186 of fresh fruits, 110 of sugar and syrups, 30 of eggs and 17 of coffee, tea and chocolate.

A curve ball baseball pitcher is less effective in Denver than in St. Diego because there is less air resistance in Denver due to the high altitude.

To sell for human consumption a potato weighing more than one pound is against the law in England.

Record To Be Evied

Skill Of Young Canadians Contributing To Success Of T.C.A.

Officials of Trans-Canada Airlines may well be proud of the enviable record the airline has during the past year. Twelve months ago first passengers were carried in the planes, and since that time approximately 30,000 persons have flown with T.C.A. without a single fatality resulting.

More than a year ago some criticism was heard because the airline operated for so long while carrying just mail and express. It was urged that an earlier start be made in passenger operation. But looking backward today it is apparent that the judgment of officials was good in giving the staff a thorough training before starting passenger work. Had these precautions not been taken it is possible that the airline's splendid record would not be posted to-day.

The record is more impressive when it is realized that Trans-Canada Airlines started operations not so many months ago with only a handful of employees who had ever had airline experience before. Success of the pilots and ground staff alike is a tribute to the aviation skill of young Canadians.—Lethbridge Herald.
